

COMPAQ SUPPORT FOR UPGRADE PROCESSORS

Compaq Processor Upgrades

Compaq Processor upgrades are fully supported and warranted by Compaq. Like other Compaq options, processors are warranted for the balance of the warranty term of the Compaq product in which they are installed, or one year, whichever is longer. Compaq processor upgrades are not warranted or supported in non-Compaq products. The Compaq warranty does not cover damage resulting from incorrect installation. The original processor should be retained in case Compaq in-warranty repair is required.

Intel Processor Upgrades

Summary

Most Compaq desktop products are designed to be upgradeable, and incorporate Intel OverDrive processor support. Intel provides warranty support for their processor upgrade products.

Detail

Most Compaq desktop products are designed to be upgradeable, and incorporate Intel OverDrive processor support. Intel and Compaq exchange engineering and technical support information to facilitate the support of appropriate Intel OverDrive processors in Compaq products.

Intel may provide a warranty for the performance of their OverDrive products. Contact Intel for information on their OverDrive processor warranty. Installation of appropriate Intel processor upgrades does not invalidate the Compaq warranty for the system into which they are installed. The Compaq warranty does not cover damage resulting from incorrect installation. The original processor should be retained in case Compaq in-warranty repair is required. Technical support on the configuration of Intel processor upgrades in Compaq products is available from either Intel or Compaq.

Intel Support: 800-321-4044 - Internet: <http://www.intel.com>